DEATHS.

The Rev. H. Smith, a gentleman of many sterling qualities, and a minister of high standing in the old Primitive Baptist church, died of cancer at his home near Corleau Springs last week. He was a generous, useful man in his community, a good financier, respected by his neighbors, and lived and died an honest man. A man of pronounced characteristics, as a natural consequence, he had some enemies with a host of friends, all of whom, now that his familiar face has gone from our presence forever, will bear willing testimony to his virtues as a citizen, and his moral worth and efficiency as an ambassador of the true and living God.—Caldie Telephone.

J. W. Pardue, son of Dr. G. M. Pardue, died at his residence three miles east of Clarksville Wednesday, of consumption, at the age of thirty-three years. He was born in Cheat-ham county and moved with his father to Clarksville soon after the war. He was a member of the Christian church and also a member of the order of the Knights of Pythias. He leaves a wife and three children.

Miss Lena Octavia Grissam, daughter of Mrs. Nannie L. Grissam, died Sunday afternoon of spinal disease, after several weeks' illness in which her sufferings were excruciating. She was in the 18th year of her age and was the idol of her bereaved mother and only brother. Her funeral was preached from the Methodist church at 2 p. m. yesterday and a large procession followed the body to its last resting place.

Mrs. W. J. Hopson, of Canton, Ky., formerly Miss Lizzie S. Sells, of Bellevue, died last Friday, aged 25. She leaves three small children.

Mrs. Rogers, daughter of Jas. West, of the Pan vicinity, died Friday night, aged 29 years. She leaves one small child.

PEMBROKE BURNED.

Seven Buildings Destroyed Sunday Morning.

THE LOSS NEARLY $20,000.

The best portion of the thriving little town of Pembroke was destroyed by an incendiary fire at 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

The fire was started in a shed room in the rear of Burris' grocery, coal oil and tar being used to make sure the success of the firebug's diabolical work.

The fire was discovered by young men sleeping in the stores, but as the town has no means of putting out fire excepting the most primitive methods, but little could be done to check the flames and the whole row of buildings, six or seven in all, were destroyed, with such of their contents as could not be removed in a brief space of time.

The citizens turned out and worked hard and by the hardest saved Miller's brick building and confined the fire to the block where it originated, in which about half of the business houses were located.

The following is a nearly complete list of the losses as could be obtained yesterday:

W. W. & J. P. Garnett, corner building next to railroad, general merchandise, stock and building $6,000; insured for $4,500, $3,500 with W. F. Garnett and $1,000 with Long, Winfree & Kelly.

M. G. Miller's building adjoining, worth $1,200, insured for $800. Occupied by postoffice which was saved and by Downer & Jernigan, furniture, loss $800, covered by $1,000 policy with W. F. Garnett.

Third building owned by John Starke, Springfield, Tenn., worth $1,000. Occupied by B. Burris' grocery and saloon. Insurance not learned.

Fourth room from corner owned by J. R. Waugh and occupied by him as a grocery and saloon. Loss and insurance not learned.

The next building was owned by W. D. Garnett, and was worth $1,000, with no insurance. It was occupied by J. P. Bragg, dry goods, whose loss is covered by a $2,500 policy with E. J. Murphy's agency.

M. G. Miller's building in the rear worth $1,500 was also burned. It was insured for $800. Downer & Jernigan had a stock of implements and hardware in this building worth $1,500; insured for $1,000 with Long, Winfree & Kelly.

To the extreme east M. G. Miller's large brick store house was saved but damaged $250, fully insured.

Exclusive of the losses of Waugh and Burris the total loss is $15,750, with $10,650 insurance. It is safe to put the total losses at from $18,000 to $20,000.

There is no clue to the perpetrator of the dastardly crime of arson, though there is no doubt that the fire was started by an incendiary.

Mr. Miller, one of the heaviest losers, was away from home with the excursion to Old Point. He was fortunate in having his property pretty well insured.

The business men burned out are entrepeneurs and merchants and will doubtless rebuild and reopen as soon as possible.

Another Heavy Haul.

Mr. J. M. Higgins was victimized by burglars Thursday night, and his loss was one of the heaviest yet reported. The intruders entered his home, rifled it of valuables and departed without disturbing the family.

The next morning Mr. Higgins discovered that he had been relieved of his gold watch worth $165 and about $50 in money, which had been left in his pockets the night before.

The Great Benefit

Which people in a run down state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength, but Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, purifies the blood, and assists to healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver.

Dr. J. A. Gunn has put up a windmill on the rear of his lot on Ninth street, where he has a well and a never failing water supply.

The worst cases of scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases of the blood are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HENDERSON CAPTURED.

Constable West Arrests Lem Morris' Slayer.

HE WILL GET $200 FOR THE JOB

Jack Henderson, who shot and fatally wounded Lem Morris at Ferguson's Store, in the Wilson District, several weeks ago, was captured Friday by Constable W. H. West, of Hopkinsville. No. 2, assisted by his son, Joe West. It will be remembered that the two young men fell out over a game of cards and that Henderson opened fire on Morris, wounding him in two places. Morris lingered for some time, but finally died from his injuries. Henderson disappeared after the shooting and has been in hiding ever since. Last week Officer West learned of his whereabouts and on Friday concluded to go out and bring him in. They reached Henderson's home, near Pilot Rock, at 5 o'clock in the morning and succeeded in locating their game in an old smokehouse, where he had fixed up a bed and had been hiding for some time. Joe West went in while his father kept watch on the outside. Henderson when brought to bay showed fight and drew a pistol, but as West had the drop on him he finally submitted quietly to arrest and was brought to town by his captors, arriving about noon.

He was arraigned before Esq. Davidson, who committed him to jail and set his examining trial for next Thursday.

Constable West will get a reward of $200 for the arrest—$150 offered by the State and $50 from the county.

Henderson is a youth who has barely reached manhood and looks like anything else than a desperado. He is to all appearances an ignorant, country boy, of but little intelligence and perhaps hardly realizes the very bad scrape in which he finds himself. He has retained Mr. Jas. Breathitt to defend him.

Col. M. D. Brown has filed his response to R. N. Landor's notice of contest. He names 102 votes cast for his opponent as illegal and asks that they be thrown out. He also denies the eligibility of Landor on the ground that he is neither a white man nor a practicing attorney of two years standing, as required by the city charter.
